

HELP BREAK THE CYCLE

As recovery from the impacts of COVID-19 continues, we ask you to think about the many community members that are still experiencing overwhelming difficulties and hardships:

- Employment disruptions, such as reduced hours, layoffs and furlough
- Financial instabilities, such as unforeseen circumstances including decrease in take home pay, lack of work and illness
- Education interruptions, such as school closings and children without access to educational resources
- Food insecurities, such as seniors and families with children on tight incomes
- Housing vulnerabilities, such as mounting utilities, rent and medical bills on limited finances, or minimal shelter availability for homelessness
- Medical access, such as transportation and those in need of homebound support

According to an economic report from Prosperity Now, millions of Americans are one missed paycheck away from poverty. Help break the cycle.

1 in 8 Americans live in poverty. How would you navigate given limited resources?

In this beyond-your-control simulation, we challenge you to navigate through economic hardships, unexpected dilemmas, and real-life scenarios that millions of families living on the edge of poverty face every day.
